

Vranje is looking for a private partner for the construction of biomass and gas boilers

The City of Vranje has announced a tender for the selection of a private partner and the award of a public contract on public-private partnership without elements of concession, for long-term delivery of thermal energy to the district heating system of PE Novi Dom and construction of new boiler rooms from renewable energy sources - wood biomass and natural gas.

The contract is signed for 30 years, and the deadline for submitting bids is June 28, eKapija writes.